DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 8-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Aoki et al (EP 957 502 A2). Aoki et al taught image display apparatus having a PDP and driving circuitry said apparatus appearing to be identical to the claimed apparatus. The method on which the product claims depend does not appear to produce a different structure or properties in the finished product.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Watanabe et al (JP 11-106237 using US 6010973 as an English language equivalent) in view of Kopatz et al (US 4715878).

6. Watanabe et al taught methods of making PDPs by forming electrodes on the surface of a substrate, grinding and classifying glass material, applying the glass material powder and a binder as a green sheet to the substrate with the electrodes formed thereon and firing to remove the binder and form a dielectric glass layer (see abstract, figures, col. 1, lines 25-29; col. 2, lines 14-26; col. 3, lines 25-35; col. 4, lines 31-41; col. 7, lines 29-42; examples 1-11 and col. 9, lines 11-21). Watanabe et al also demonstrated that the glass particle size was preferably less than half the finished thickness of the dielectric glass layer. Watanabe et al did not teach spheroidizing the glass particles.

7. Kopatz et al taught a known process for preparing glass powders having controlled particle size range and distribution for different purposes using gas plasma jet heating (see col. 3, line 55 to col. 4, line 20). It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the glass powder preparation steps of Kopatz et al in Watanabe et al because Kopatz et al taught that spherical glass particles of 5 μ m diameter could be reliably produced and that such particles were useful in paste film formation. Specifically, Kopatz et al states that "Spherical glass particles can aid in the fluidity of the paste and the ease with which the binders carriers can be removed." (sic)
